

Mingo and Maggie

Renay Whittier, a volunteer at Sierra's Haven, often fosters the really young and/or sick kittens. When Renay first got Mingo, she was only a week old and had to be bottle fed. She had a sister who unfortunately didn't make it. Mingo was touch and go but responded well to Renay's loving care. Maggie was brought to Sierra's by a young couple who had found her in a yard near their home. She had a hole in her back that was infested with maggots. Terry (the vet tech at Sierra's) and Renay were able to flush out the parasites and, after a few weeks of medication, she recovered and became quite the healthy little kitten.

Mingo and Maggie were adopted by a couple from Chillicothe who sent us some photos and the letter below to let us know how they are doing. Mingo and Maggie are two lucky kittens who are now in a great new "forever" home!

Renay,

"Hello – Hope all is well down your way. Things in Chillicothe are going very well. The girls are growing like a weed. Maggie and Mingo are so much fun and we enjoy them. They have changed our lives so much for the better. I have sent you a few pictures of them – they love sitting on the bathroom sink and looking out the front screen door window. They are so cute when they nap and always want to sleep next to each other. Maggie now weighs 6.3 lbs. while Ming weighs 5.9 lbs. – but she runs all hers off. Thought you would enjoy seeing how loved they are. Take care - Sarah and Todd, Maggie and Ming"
